TOILET HINTS HOW TO FURNISH

There is a clear call to national economy, and we all must heed it and answer it, otherwise ?

Economy is necessary in small matters as well as in large, and particularly in articles which are in regular daily use, such as TOILET SOAP.

But economy does not mean using a poor, low-priced article, because inefficiency means waste. True economy is the laying out of money, on necessary articles only, with a view to the best return.

In TOILET SOAP, bear in mind that a fancy box and ornate wrapper have to be paid for by you, and they are of no use to you. Therefore, you should see to it that your money buys "all soap," and the best at that.

BARRINGTON'S " COMPLEXION " TOILET SOAP

is guaranteed pure, and made from the choicest materials only. Made at our works in Dublin in twelve distinct varieties.

IT IS THE SOAP FOR YOU.

The accommodation of our Bankers has hitherto enabled as to carry on without a special appeal to the public but the Hospital Account is now over-drawn by more than £7,000, to meet which the securities held by the Trustees are now valued at only £3,110, and the Hankers have given notice that they cannot further honour cheques which would increase the over-draft, and have required that the existing advance be reduced.

The Board, therefore, rocognise that will so the that they are the over-draft, and have required that the existing advance be reduced.

The Board, therefore, rocognise that will so the hard that the sisting advance be reduced.

The Board, therefore, rocognise that will so the hard that the sisting advance be reduced.

The Board, therefore, rocognise that will so the hard that the port from the public. Indeed, its doors would not now be open were it not that Members of the Board have given the Boarders a personal guarantee for a further overdraft. This state of things cannot continue. They, therefore, most earnestly appeal to the charitable public to come to their assistance. No pen could picture the blessings conferred by such an Institution as this, situated in the midst of, the poorest population in the city; or the suffering that would result if its usefulness were cartailed drain good and no one has hitherto been refused assistance.

The work of the Hospital are very open for the recent of the first of the sufficiency.

The work of the Hospital will be betier appreciated when it is realised that poor women and infants were treated during the past year as follows: Patients admitted in the Chancer Wards.

We think thet all whose hearts were torn between grief and anger by the story of the Leinster will have read the articles in the Nationalist Press with deep disappointment. These newspapers are shocked by the crime, and denounce German barbarity; but they sound no trumpet-call to the young men of Nationalist Ireland. They have failed to realise in the past that Ireland owes a duty to the Allied cause. We had hoped, however, that they would realise now that Ireland owes an imperative duty to her murdered women and children. Surely that duty admits no questioning to-day; yet yesterday, as before Thursday's tragedy, we found in the Nationalist Press much about the old quarrel between official Nationalism and Sinn Fein, and no vehement appeal for the closing of the ranks of our young manhood against the world-criminal who has strewed our Irish world-criminal wh ranks of our young manhood against the "a truly enormous production of tonnage" and his ex-world-criminal who has strewed our Irish which will astonish the world. It must the English world-criminal who has strewed our Irish coast with Irish dead. Mr. Ben Tillett calls appon Irishmen to "rise to revenge the murder of their countrymen." On Thursday the Nationalist Party and should devote the main attention to naval the Directory of the United Irish League production, and that America should give gave the Government another warning a large part of her resources to the congainst conscription. In their resolution, struction of the ships which are essential against conscription. In their resolution, which was proposed by Mr. Devlin, M.P., they said: "The pretence of necessity relied upon by the Government in April has entirely passed away." The necessity of conscription has resulted from the failure of voluntary regruiting, and we now ask Mr. Devlin a plain question. Has Thursday's foul work imposed, or has it not imposed, on Ireland the necessity of a prompt response to Lord French's appeal for voluntary recruiting? Is the task of avenging Germany's Irish victims a necessity of honour for the whole Irish people, or is it only "a pretence of necessity" is now being built to assist the Allied as being very skilled and children, the clightly he steems to the maintenance of the Allied armies to the maintenance of the Allied at the maintenance of the Allied armies to the the maintenance of the Allied to the maintenance of the Allied armies to the warm with the greatest mercantile fleet in the world, and it is obvious that the situation will require readjustment. If he admits the necessity, we ask him to recognise instantly his own duty and that of the party in which his inand that of the party in which his influence is second only to Mr. Dillon's. The Nationalist Party has to-day a great opportunity. It has a chance to vindicate opportunity. It has a chance to vindicate its own and its country's good name, and to escape from a miserable position into which it has come rather, perhaps, through mistaken judgment than by design. The party has boycotted voluntary recruiting by way of protest against the alleged bad faith of England. Its stubborn pursuit of this course has brought shame on Irection square, len's Green.

To-day, without any breach of its misguided consistency, the party can summon Nationalist Ireland, not to help England, but to avenge Ireland's dead. If it will throw itself into this duty, with the help of the Roman Catholic Church, Lord French's fifty thousand men will be averted. If the Nationalist Party and the "menace" of conscription will be averted. If the Nationalist Party and the Church fail in this duty now, not only must conscription come, but Ireland's honour will lie for ever in the dust. It is the gravest issue that ever faced the Irish people or any Irish party—yet even now the Nationalist leaders are mute, and "religion, unregardful, keeps her cell."

In proposing the toast of the American Press representatives at a luncheon in London yesterday, Mr. Balfour said that he did not know that in any six or seven months of history had so great and dramatic a transformation taken place on so heroic a scale, or dealing with issues so momentous for the future of the world. He did not pretend for a moment that their difficulties were at an end, but he should their difficulties were at an end, but he should their difficulties were at an end, but he should of victory now flowing so profoundly in their direction ever received a serious set-back from the efforts of their ensemies.

LORD LIEUTENANT AND THE VICTIMS.

Message to the Public.

Lord French yesterday issued the following:
The Lord Lieutenant desires to express his deep and heartfelt sympathy with the relatives and friends of those who have lost 'their lives in the Royal Mail steamship Leinster. The organised, determined, and orderly attempts to save life, with the result that 133 persons were rescued from death in a very heavy sea-way, is another splendid illustration of the calm courage, interpidity, and skill which has characterised our Etercantily Marine in so marked a manner throughout the war.

The accounts of survivors agree in confirming the unselfish spirit of fortitude, and the in domitable bravery with which all on board faced immediate death and disaster.

When we remember that throughout more than four years the Irish Mail packets have run unceasingly day and night, and that throughout the whole time their captains and crews have faced a constant and every present submarine menace, ex cannot but regard with deep admiration the skill, courage, and seamanship which they have to abundantly displayed.

Captain Birch and the crew of the Leinster have fallen as gloriously in the great cause as any sailor or soldier in the war; and the same applies to those developed workers in the Postal Department to post of all shades of opinion will join as one man to help in the great work of bringing swift retribution he great work of bringing swift retribution here are poly such barbarous methods of warfare.
